Dragon breeding guide dragonvale

Posted by Dr. Macenstein on Wednesday, May 2, 2012 · 2579 COMMENTS *** NOTE: IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR DRAGONVALE FRIENDS TO EXCHANGE GEMS, PLEASE POST YOUR INFORMATION TO OUR DRAGONVALE FRIEND REQUESTS POST, NOT INDIVIDUAL BREEDING POSTS. Thanks!! If you're looking for tips on how to beat Cairo and GAIA quests, click here!*** So it looks more than a few of you looking for tips on breeding different Dragons DragonVale (Free/Universal). If you are not familiar with the game, you can read our review here, but suffice it to if it is one of those time burglars where you raise and cross breed various dragon-types to create the ultimate Magical Dragon zoo. Ultimately pointless, but addictive. Unfortunately, some dragons can be hard to get, and while you can try to breed combinations that look like they should get you a hard-to-get Rainbow or Moon Dragon or such, sometimes it just doesn't happen. So we decided to put out a list of what we've found to work with every Dragon Type. I currently have a few for each dragon (my Game Center ID is Dr. Macenstein, if you want to check out my dragons) and while many of them can get different combos, I'll tell you only what breeding combinations actually DID work for me. I warn you that from time to time even the right combination can last 20 times or even more, but I promise you, these combinations will work. Finally. Also note, a few of these dragons are seasonal, and may not be available at the moment no matter what dragons you breed. Finally, I suggest that most of the hybrids you buy on Breeding Island (located on the ISS market) because it can increase your odds if they try to breed especially hard to get a hybrid. That being said, I think I've also bred most of them as a regular breeding cave as well. Also note: Pretty much every dragon I've found that doesn't matter, regardless of what people say. For example, I got plasma with Lightning and Seaweed, and my wife got it seaweed and lightning. So feel free to mix the order of my suggestions if you like. Once again, I'm just going to tell you what worked for me. Also, if you breed two dragons and want to know what the result is before they hatch, check out this handy List of DragonVale dragon incubation and Breeding Times I scored with. And if you're looking for suggestions to win DragonVale Races, click here. First of all, we have Elemental Dragons. They cannot be bred – they need to be peeled out of coins – so start saving. On the plus side, these dragons form the building blocks of all the other dragons, so if you have them, you can get the rest (well, almost all the rest). Elemental Dragons (They can only be purchased with coins, or bred by an existing pair you have purchased) EARTH DRAGON: PLANT DRAGON: FIRE DRAGON: COLD DRAGON: LIGHTNING DRAGON: WATER DRAGON: OK, SO IF YOU HAVE TWO OR MORE OF THEM, LET'S SEE WHAT YOU CAN (Click on the Dragon name to see your breeding guide) Abyss Dragon: Acid Dragon: Air Dragon: Alpenglow Dragon: Amber Dragon: Amethyst Dragon: Andrometan Dragon: Antarian Dragon: Antumbra Dragon: Apocalypse Dragon: Aquamarine Dragon: Arbor Dragon: Arkciss: Arkuuria Dragon: Arid Dragon: Ash Dragon: Aurora Dragon: Autumn Dragon: Azurite Dragon: Barid Dragon: Bearded Dragon: Berry Dragon: Bicentennial Dragon: Bilby Dragon: Bismuth Dragon: Bizurian Dragon: Blazing Dragon: Blazing Gale Dragon: BlightWing Dragon: Blizzard Dragon: BLOOM DRAGON : (Seasonal -
